Overview

Target the altitude of 4000 meters as a first step to the Himalaya!
Do you dream of flying to the Himalayas but have never reached 4000 meters (13’123 ft) yet? And what about being on your first 4000-meter peak in the Swiss Alps?

WILD YAK EXPEDITIONS offers you a new challenge in the heart of the Swiss Alps with an Himalayan ambiance.

Let WILD YAK guide you to the summit of Allalinhorn (4027m/13,211ft). The Allalinhorn is situated in the Mischabel Massif above Saas Fee, in the core of the Swiss Alps. It is known as one of the easier 4000m peaks in the Alps.

A great experience for good hikers to find yourself at the top of your first 4000. No previous alpine experience required. Just enjoy a 1 day experience of great mountaineering!

Feel free to contact us for any further information and let's fix a date together! We will be happy to advise you by phone or email.

Program

Day 01: Saas Fee

Meeting in Saas Fee

We meet* in Saas Fee where our WILD YAK mountain Guide will welcome you. Short briefing and checking of the gears.
It goes then to 3600 meters with the Metro Alpin to the highest rotating restaurant in the world. From there, your adventure starts with a gentle warm-up hike to the bottom of the ascent of the glacier.

In about two to three hours, you will be able to swallow the 500-meter elevation to the top of the Allalinhorn! From there, look around you and enjoy the breathtaking panorama of the surrounding peaks. We take the same track for the descent as the ascent. It takes about two hours again to reach our starting point at 3600 meters above sea level.

Congratulations!

The exact time will be communicated to the participants a few days prior to the Tour.*
